Nina Mendoza Recognized as One of the County's Top Employees

By: Helena Mitchell
Staff Writer

Nina Mendoza was recently honored as one of San Bernardino County's top employees. Mendoza says that she was very surprised when she found out she was nominated by Lieutenant Newcombe and was extremely honored to be recognized in this way.

Mendoza has been a San Bernardino County Sheriff for the past twenty years, and loves her job. She began working for San Bernardino County at the age of 25, and saw the job as fit for her because, as a single mother, stability and benefits was something she needed to help take care of her son. Years later, her 27-year-old son now works for the San Bernardino Sheriff's Department as a dispatcher. Since the day she joined, Mendoza knew that she had made the right decision.

For the first eighteen years of her service, she worked in the Central Detention Center and the Glen Helen Rehabilitation Center. For the past two years she has been assigned to the Grand Terrace Police Station where she organizes the neighborhood watch and citizens on patrol programs as well as the crime free multi-housing program which strives towards getting all the managers of apartment complexes to work together towards a common goal of crime prevention. During her time working in Grand Terrace she has also taken a large role in law enforcement and helps identify any criminal activity that takes place in condos, apartments, and mobile home parks. She also handles the red light cameras and speed trailers that monitor driving within the city of Grand Terrace. Her new assignment in Grand Terrace seems to be working well; she enjoys working with the public as opposed to working inside a jail.

Mendoza began working for San Bernardino County as a booking officer at the Central Detention Center in 1989. Shortly after mastering her tasks, she became a Sheriff Custody Specialist where she worked with the inmates involving inmate services. In this job she was required to assess all inmates' education levels, perform mock interviews, help them earn their GEDs, and assist them in getting a job after getting out of

Grand Terrace Begins to Invest in Modernization

The Redevelopment Agency's Commercial Improvement Plan and the City of Grand Terrace, has embarked on a project to give a local shopping center on Barton Road a makeover, this shopping center will soon have a more modern new look.

By: Helena Mitchell
Staff Writer

In efforts of proving to the redevelopment agency board that the Redevelopment Agency's Commercial Improvement Plan deserves more funding, Joyce Powers, the community and economic development director for the city of Grand Terrace, has embarked on a project to give a local shopping center on Barton Road a makeover. The shopping center is owned by Joseph Shamolian who will be required to pay for approximately ten percent of the tab for the remodel which is expected to be no more than $100,000.

According to the Press Enterprise newspaper, the remodel will include new signs for the fifteen stores in the shopping center, a fresh coat of light blue paint, and new landscaping for the center. Officials understand that the appearance of businesses and shopping centers reflects on the entire city, not just the individual location.

While Grand Terrace is not a themed city throughout, many residents and businesses have followed in the wood-paneled exterior, however over time it has proven to be costly to take care of and the new construc-

Faux Painter Turned Landscape Artist to Be Featured At Artist Eye Laguna Gallery

Artist Eye Laguna Gallery will feature abstract landscape paintings by Inland Empire artist Evan Roy Dahlke from June 1 to June 30. In conjunction with the month-long exhibit, Artist Eye Laguna Gallery will host a reception with the artist on Saturday, June 13 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Dahlke started his career painting interiors, faux finishing and doing finish carpentry work. But in 2006, he discovered a wealth of new products and techniques through Faux Masters Studio in Yorba Linda. "This opened up a whole new realm of clientele and inspiration to exercise my artistic abilities," says Dahlke.

Grand Terrace artist Evan Roy Dahlke will be featured in Artist Eye Laguna Gallery on Saturday, June 13 from 6 to 9 p.m.

For example, one client suggested that the faux finish sample boards Dahlke painted were so elegant that she could frame them and hang them on her walls as abstract artwork. "This idea prompted me to create a 48" x 60" abstract art piece, titled 'It Is Finished' that I gave to the client as a wedding gift. It hangs proudly in their home today and launched a whole new career for me," says Dahlke.

In 2007 Dahlke was asked to be a part of a "Flip that House" episode where Dahlke, and other decorative faux artists affiliated with Faux Masters Studio, completely renovated a small Lake Ellsinore home into a work of art. Later that year Dahlke was chosen by Faux Effects World Magazine as one of their Bright Stars. "By October things were really starting to move toward the artist realm when I was asked to represent Faux Masters Studio at the Meeting of the Masters in Dallas, Texas. At that meeting, I demonstrated the versatility of Faux Effects products by painting an abstract work while the public

A Very Special Letter from Tom Schwab

To the Citizens of Grand Terrace,

For the past twenty-five years I have had the honor and pleasure to serve as your Finance Director and City Manager. After much reflection, I have decided it's best for me, my family, and the City that I retire as City Manager. The Staff, City Council, and I have built a solid foundation on which we can build towards the future. During my tenure we have built City Hall, the Fire Station, Pico and Richard Rollins Park, as well as our Child Care Center. My last project and perhaps the best is the new Senior Center with the Senior Housing Villas. Through my years as City Manager, I've got to meet a lot of wonderful people. Its people like you that make Grand Terrace so grand. I wish to thank those who prayed and supported me during my illness and recovery.

I plan to remain an active member in our community and I look forward to seeing you at City events. Thank you for a wonderful 25 years, it will be missed.

Respectfully,
Tom Schwab

Oreohids and Onions

I've believed for many years now that when a business or person goes out of their way to make life easier for anybody, especially a senior citizen, which sometimes we just may overlook for one reason or another. What I'm referring to is the manner in which Mr. Danny DeMuth, took care of my plumbing problem, not only with courtesy but promptly, and last but not least, he's reasonable. He is one of a kind. I highly recommend Mr. DeMuth for his services. Just rest assured that when you call this company, you're problems will be taken care of. Thank you very much Mr. DeMuth!!!!. Like I mentioned in the title "A Great Big Orchid to DeMuth Plumbing.

Orchids to neighbors who removed their Christmas lights by January 1st.

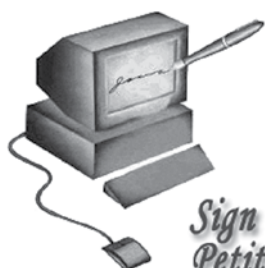

Onions to homeowners who still have Christmas lights up June 1st.

A Very Special Happy Birthday to The City News Group's very own Maria Ortiz.

GT Fire Station is Undergoing Remodel

The Grand Terrace Fire Station located on Barton Road is currently undergoing an interior remodel. Construction preformed by Hamel Contracting Incorporated began on May 18th and is expected to be completed by mid September.

The interior living space is receiving much needed attention. The building was originally built in 1980s without the expectation of staff firefighters living within the station. The kitchen, office, day room, and sleeping quarters will be remodeled. A new bathroom and new water tanks will be added to the location. In addition to the remodeling, 800 square feet will be added to the station, which is expected to help with the lack of space at the firefighters' disposal prior to the remodel.

The paid crew members that sleep at the station have relocated a little over a mile to Station 19 in Highgrove. To reach the Highgrove station call 951-686-2105 or general fire dispatch please call (909) 356-3805.

In the case of an emergency please always call 911.

Grant Provides for Enhancement of Fire Services

San Bernardino County Fire was recently awarded funds to recruit, train and retain Paid-Call Firefighters for the enhancement and continued service to the citizens in the remote areas of the county. Through the SAFER Grant (Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response) section of the Assistance to Firefighter Grant Program (AFG), a program supported and encouraged by Congressman Jerry Lewis and Joe Baca, leading San Bernardino's Congressional Delegation, San Bernardino County Fire was recently awarded $532,025. This two-year grant requires no matching funds from the County.

These funds were graciously accepted by the County Board of Supervisors at today's board meeting. "In these tough economic times, local governments are trying to balance public safety with finite resources," stated Supervisor Neil Derry. "This money will enhance public safety at no cost to San Bernardino County taxpayers. Additionally, rapid response is essential to public safety and this award will allow us to better serve the community as we head into the heightened fire season."

In addition to enhancing the Paid-Call Firefighter Program, County Fire will focus on the Explorer Program in the recruitment phase. "These young men and women are the firefighters of the future. We need to reach out to our youth, giving them the option to explore opportunities within the fire service," stated Fire Chief Pat Dennen.

Thanks to the AFG program, San Bernardino County

Fire has received close to $1.5 million overall since 2008.

In July 2008, County Fire received $616,896 toward a $771,120 project to purchase state of the art driving simulators mounted on a mobile trailer. This will allow County Fire to train suppression staff in the safe and proper handling of fire apparatus in all types of terrain, weather and highway traffic conditions and situations.

In December 2008, County Fire received $341,622 toward a $427,027 regional grant for 44 MDCs (Mobile Data Computers). This was a regional grant applied for on behalf of Confire and all the regional participants in the Joint Powers of Authority (San Bernardino County Fire, Colton, Loma Linda, Redlands and Rialto Fire Departments). The MDCs will be placed in the Battalion Chief vehicles and other fire vehicles to work in conjunction with the new CAD system installed by Confire earlier this year. These will be used on incidents to maintain locations and information regarding units responding to an incident.

Assistance to Firefighters Grant

The primary goal of the Assistance to Firefighters Grants (AFG) is to meet the firefighting and emergency response needs of fire departments and nonaffiliated emergency medical services organizations. Since 2001, AFG has helped firefighters and other first responders to obtain critically needed equipment, protective gear, emergency vehicles, training, and other resources needed to protect the public and emergency personnel from fire and related hazards.

Paid-Call Firefighter Program

The San Bernardino County Fire Department has a long and rich history involving our Paid-Call Firefighter forces within our Department. Every one of our fire districts that now makes up the County Fire Department started as a Volunteer or Paid-Call Department. As many of these communities developed into cities so did the need for those fire companies to develop into full-time all-risk fire departments.

Today, in many areas of our County, communities still cannot afford to provide for full-time firefighter response, but have citizens that still want to help in their respective community and make their hometown a safer place to live – these are our San Bernardino County Fire Department Paid-Call Firefighters. The foundational concept for these PCF companies is that these are citizen firefighters that are there to help their fellow residents within their community and within our County any time there is a need. Trained and responding many times from their own home, these firefighters come together to assist our communities against fire, accidents, and to provide emergency medical aid as needed.

Home Inspection Helps Ensure Dream Deals Don't Turn into Nightmares

(ARA) - You found your dream deal on a foreclosed home, but will that great price tag come with a different kind of higher cost? Buying a repossessed property, short sale or a home offered at a bargain price -- because of its condition -- can mean you're assuming much higher risks.

Repossession and short sale homes are often abandoned and neglected, leaving them with much more potential for unforeseen structural defects, plumbing, electrical, heating systems, environmental issues and many other problems. Fixing these woes can cost far more than the financial savings from a distressed property purchase. There also may be unknown defects, such as mold or radon, that could affect your family's health and safety.

Still, it is possible to get a dream deal on a distressed home. Before you sign on the dotted line, be sure to have the house thoroughly inspected by a professional, so you can reduce these potential risks as well as financial costs. A home inspector can help you identify potential problems in the home you're considering buying, so you know in advance what you're getting into -- and what you should walk away from.

There are many ways to find a home inspector, including consulting family, friends, your attorney, real estate professional or mortgage professional. You can also find information on inspectors across the country on www.ashi.org, the Web site of The American Society of Home Inspectors, the organization that sets the standards of practice for the inspection industry.

Homebuyers aren't the only ones who can benefit from a home inspection. If you're selling your home, having it inspected before you list it may help sell your home in less time and for more money. Moreover, homeowners can benefit from maintenance inspections, such as an energy inspection, which can help reduce monthly energy costs, and a home safety inspection that can help seniors stay in their homes longer.

If you're thinking of hiring a home inspector, ASHI offers a few tips on how to evaluate candidates:

- * Visit the "Find a Home Inspector" section of ASHI's Web site to find a qualified ASHI inspector in your area. Many inspectors also list their specialties and other background information, such as their experience, on this site.

- * Ask the inspector how he operates. What format will the report be in? Ask for sample reports.

- * Talk with each candidate to see who is the best fit for your needs and comfort, as well as for the property being inspected.

- * Check all references. Don't automatically go with the lowest price. Remember, the old adage is often true -- you get what you pay for.

- * Attend the inspection to Make sure to get a home inspection before purchasing.

ensure you get the best value -- and most information -- for your investment.

A home inspector can be your best ally in ensuring your dream deal doesn't turn into a nightmare. Visit www.ashi.org and take the Virtual Home Inspector Tour to see and hear more about home inspections.

"Flex Your Power" Campaign Aims to Save Energy and Money

The American Lung Association in California has been selected to participate in a statewide outreach campaign to educate the public about ways to conserve energy, reduce utility bills and protect the environment. The Flex Your Power campaign includes print advertising and community outreach.

"Our organization is pleased to be a part of this important statewide campaign because it benefits the environment by saving energy and it benefits consumers by saving them money on their utility bills," said Kari Provost, Flex Your Power Program Coordinator. "For instance, by replacing older appliances, insulation and light bulbs with energy efficient models, people can reduce utility bills by up to 50 percent. We urge our community to learn more about Flex Your Power and energy saving programs by calling the toll free phone line 1-866-431-FLEX."

During the coming months the American Lung Association in California will be conducting a variety of events and activities in the Fontana area to raise awareness of energy efficiency programs and products. Included is a "Leave Your Mark" pledge drive where we hope to gather thousands of signatures showing our community's support of campaign goals. Other outreach activities include a light bulb exchange, poetry and essay contest and community presentation.

For further information about the American Lung Association's local activities or to schedule a presentation about Flex Your Power, contact Kari Provost at (909) 884-5864.

Flex Your Power is funded by California utility ratepayers and administered by the California Investor Owned Utilities under the auspices of the California Public Utilities Commission. For more information about Flex Your Power visit www.flexyourpower.org.

Myths of the Heart

Think you know about your heart?

Your doctor may disagree. Cardiovascular medicine faculty at the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health say they've heard plenty of myths about heart disease—and patients who believe them may be at increased risk because of the misinformation.

To shine some truth on the subject, these cardiologists have provided a quick list of some of the most common myths they encounter in patient care. Think of it as a heart reality check.

MYTH 1: "Nobody in my family has heart disease, so I'm not going to get it."

Not true, says Dr. James Stein, director of the Preventive Cardiology Program at UW Hospital and Clinics in Madison. Only 47 percent of people with heart disease have a family history of the disease—which means the other 53 percent develop it in the absence of an obvious genetic component.

"Risk factors like unhealthy eating habits and a sedentary lifestyle predict heart disease. The presence of any risk factors increases your risk of developing heart disease," says Stein. "But not having a family history does not protect you."

MYTH 2: "I don't have high blood pressure. My bottom number has always been normal."

It's true that, when you're young, the bottom number—also known as the diastolic blood pressure—is a marker of heart disease and stroke risk. But after the age of 35 or 40 years, the key number to pay attention to is the top number—also known as the systolic blood pressure.

"As you age, your arteries get stiffer, and as a result, the top number goes up and the bottom number goes down," says Stein. "Actually, a low bottom number is very dangerous."

Stein notes that, contrary to popular belief, increased blood pressure is not a normal part of aging. Any increase in the top number is an indication of greater risk.

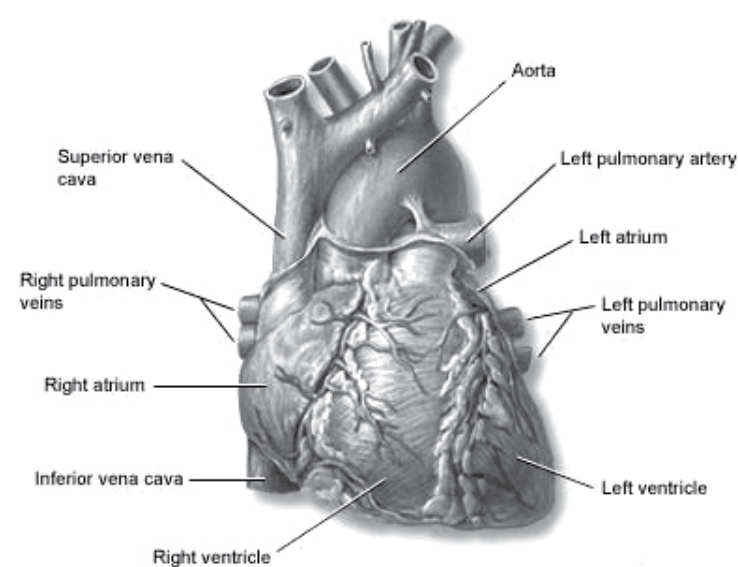

MYTH 3: "My angiography showed that I have an artery with a 50 percent blockage. We just have to take care of that one spot, right?"

Unfortunately, no. Atherosclerosis—sometimes called "hardening of the arteries"—is a diffuse disease.

"Chances are, if you have one blockage that is easy to see, you almost assuredly have blockages elsewhere that are harder to see," says Dr. Jon Keevil, a preventive cardiologist at UW Hospital and Clinics. "Unfortunately, even those can be risky for heart attacks."

MYTH 4: "I'm thin and I'm in shape. I don't have to worry about bad cholesterol."

Wrong again. Dr. Mary Zasadil, a preventive cardiologist with UW Hospital and Clinics, says that obese patients may be more likely to suffer from cholesterol issues. But, like heart disease, cholesterol is largely genetic. If your parents or relatives struggled with cholesterol, you and your primary care physician need to pay close attention to your cholesterol numbers and have them tested frequently.

And speaking of cholesterol, Zasadil also frequently hears another head-slapper from patients:

MYTH 5: "I stopped taking my cholesterol medication because my cholesterol improved. I didn't think I needed them anymore."

You need them. Cholesterol medications, including statins, aren't like antibiotics, which can be stopped once the infection has been resolved and you've completed your course.

The protective benefits of cholesterol medications disappear once a patient stops taking them, and what has gone down (a patient's cholesterol numbers) can quickly shoot back up again.

"When you stop taking your medications, your risk of a heart event increases right back to where it was before you started taking them," says Zasadil. "That's why it's important to discuss any change in your medications with your primary care physician."

Break Into My Email Account and Get Ten Thousand Dollars

Millions of email accounts are hacked every year. Last year, Sarah Palin's email account was hacked using publicly available information to reset her password. Many people now store financial, medical, personal, and other sensitive information in their email accounts. When a fraudster gains access to an email account, they wreak havoc that can take years to repair.

A new service is putting an end to this nightmare. StrongWebmail.com is the first email account to protect users from the vulnerabilities of a username and password. With StrongWebmail, when a person successfully enters their username and password, they must receive a phone call or text message on their telephone. The phone call gives them a 5-digit code that they enter into their computer to confirm their identity. This ensures that even if someone's password is stolen, the thief still can't access the victim's email account because they don't have access to the user's phone.

To prove how secure StrongWebmail is, the company is offering $10,000 to the first person to break into the CEO's email account. StrongWebmail hopes that this contest will bring attention to the username and password crisis. According to Symantec's Global Internet Security Report, email accounts are the third most popular item for sale on sites that sell valuable stolen information, behind credit card numbers and bank account details. The report also notes that attackers are concentrating on victimizing consumers for financial gain.

Every person is a password away from disaster!

For more information about the Break into My Email Account and Get Ten Thousand Dollars contest:

CERT Team Safety Tip of the Week:

During the Earthquake:

If you are indoors, stay there. Quickly move to a safe location in the room such as under a strong desk, a strong table, or along an interior wall. The goal is to protect yourself from falling objects and be located near the structural strong points of the room. Avoid taking cover near windows, large mirrors, hanging objects, heavy furniture, heavy appliances or fireplaces.

If you are cooking, turn off the stove and take cover.

Every week we will publish a new CERT safety tip. If you would like more information about the CERT program or becoming a volunteer please contact: Colton - 909-370-5100 Grand Terrace - 909-825-7795 Loma Linda - 909-356-3987

Our Friends the “Honeybee”

By: Victoria Kouyoumjian
Community Writer

We all know honeybees produce honey, but there are many other facets to the honeybee which should interest anyone who likes to eat fruit, smell flowers, or enjoy a colorful and healthy landscape.

Although there are many types of insects that consume the nectar of flowers, only honeybees refine and concentrate the nectar to make honey. They are making honey not for you to put in your tea, but to provide food to their hives when flower nectar is unavailable, as in winter. As with most bees, they can sting when threatened. But it is only the female that is equipped with a stinger. They are extremely social -- their hives can contain nearly 20,000 bees in the summer. The social network is divided into three groups: queens, drones, and workers. There's one queen per hive and her purpose is to make more bees. Drones are male and live for two months, serving only to mate with the queen. But it's the worker bees that do the heavy-lifting. They are all sterile females and this time of year, you will see them busily foraging for nectar, pollen, water and sticky resin for hive construction. If you look closely, you can see their full pollen baskets on their legs. For worker bees, use of their stinger produces immediate death.

As these worker bees are foraging, pollen sticks to the fuzzy hairs which cover their bodies. As they move from flower to flower, this pollen rubs off, fertilizing the flowers, and resulting in better fruit production. In fact, some plants won't produce fruit at all without the help of the honeybee.

A subspecies of honeybee, the Africanized Honeybee, was originally introduced from South Africa in a researcher's attempt to produce a domestic honeybee is better adapted to the tropics. Unfortunately, the africanized honeybee is also much more aggressive when defending their nests, dubbing them the “killer bee”.

Recently a mysterious sickness has affected the domestic honeybee, causing them to the leave hive and never return, which eventually kills off the entire colony. Known as Colony Collapse Disorder (CCD), it has still not been determined the exact cause of this death exodus. Parasites, viruses, stress factors and environmental toxins are still under investigation as contributors to CCD.

You can learn more about our friends the honeybee this month at the Hutton Community Center, 660 Colton Ave. in Colton, Wed., June 17th @ 6pm. Stephens' Honey from Lake Arrowhead will share more about this industrial insect, and introduce the 'Adopt-a-Hive' Program for all interested. <http://www.iemgonline.org>

CA Shark Danger: Not Their Jaws but Their Fins

Surfers will be out in force along the Pacific Coast as we head toward summer, and some will be thinking about sharks in the water, though experts say it's the sharks that are in danger - from over-hunting.

Matt Rand, director of the Pew Environment Group, says, between 1926 and 2007, there were only 96 shark attacks in California waters and only seven were fatal.

“It's a very-rare occurrence that a shark attack actually takes place in California waters and that it's fatal. You have much better chance of dying by having a major incident with a vending machine.”

Up to 70 million sharks are being killed each year in a quest for their fins, says Rand, which are a delicacy in some Asian cuisines. A management plan is needed to address the diminishing shark population, he adds.

Congress is debating a measure that would stop fisherman from killing sharks purely for their fins. One vessel was stopped recently with 32 tons of shark fin aboard, but the operators could not be prosecuted because it was not a fishing boat.

Grand Terrace Republican Women's Monthly Meeting

Paul Baine of the National Rifle Association will be guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Grand Terrace Republican Women's meeting on June 8th, 2009.

Meetings are held on the second Monday of each month at 7:00 p.m. in the City Hall Community Room.

The public is invited.

Julie Arner, manager of the Pew Environment Group, says Congress is crafting a measure that would apply to all vessels.

“Under the proposed law, if a ship were in U.S. waters and was carrying shark fins, those fins must be naturally attached to the shark. This is really important for enforcement of the law, and for scientific data collection.”

One reason Californians should care about what happens to sharks, says Arner, is that they're a top predator. For example, sharks eat rays that prey on scallops and, with fewer sharks in the ocean; there have been drops in the scallop population as well.

Lion's Club Named Club of the Year for 2008-09

By: Don Smith

Community Writer

For the second time in three years, the Grand Terrace Lions Club has been named Club of the Year.

The announcement came last week at the District 4L-5 Convention held in Laughlin, Nev.

Lion Tim Parada, president of the local Lions Club, termed the award "The highest honor we could get. I feel I am honored... we are all honored. We just could not have accomplished this honor without the members of our club...they made it possible." Also, the local support from the community of Grand Terrace helped our club achieve the many points that the club needed to be so recognized.

Longtime club secretary Lion Gil Molini was again named District Secretary of the Year. Molini, who is retiring after this year, with his term ending in June, was also cited as the 100 Percent Secretary of the Year.

Lions Ruthanne Christenson and Dani Bubier were honored for their efforts in producing the Scrapbook of the Year.

At a previous Cabinet Meeting conducted by District Governor Al Andrews, Past District Governor Dwight Winans of Grand Terrace was cited for his Newsletter of the Year. He was also honored for his continued assistance for the blind through the Loma Linda Eye Foundation, an organization of which Winans has long been an active member.

Also, immediate Past President Lion Wayne Young was cited by the governor for Young's recent election as Zone A chairman.

Gardening Offers Seniors an Amazing Opportunity

By: Helena Mitchell

Staff Writer

Grand Terrace's new plan to include a garden in the center of the $21 million housing project, called the Blue Mountain Senior Villas, near Terrace View Elementary in efforts of instilling a healthier lifestyle into the seniors of the complex.

Seniors who live in the new senior complex will be able to grow their own produce. Given the current economy, many residents have taken up gardening to save a little money here and there.

The garden will be located in a 2.5-acre park which will also include artwork, walking paths, and benches. The gardens will be located in 3-foot-high garden beds to make it easier for them to be cared for and accessed for the tenants of the complex.

The turn-out for participation in the caring of the garden is expected to be high as there are 120 units in the complex. The garden will offer a good balance to the affordable housing units in efforts of making the financial part of life a little easier.

During the construction of the public park within the affordable housing complex, the senior center is closed and seniors drive to other centers for events and senior lunches. On June 22 the center and new additions are expected to be up and running. As reported in the Sun newspaper, many including 81-year-old Donald Barte, who is a 60-year

Grand Terrace resident said he, looks forward to returning to his "second home".

The new housing project was approved by the city council in 2005, and construction was delayed for legal reasons. At this point most units are reserved for low-income residents who are required to be 62 or older.

A Wonderful 80th Year Birthday Celebration

By: Jim Miller
Staff Writer

This past Sunday in Upland, California there was an outpouring of family and friends to celebrate the 80th birthday for a long time Grand Terrace resident "Russell L. Carter". Jeannette Harold, daughter of Russ and Joyce Carter, said "We are very proud of both of our parents, but today we want to single out our father for all of the wonderful things he has done for our family over the years." Russell and Joyce Carter have six children, Jeannette Harold, Susan Boling, Michael Carter, Jeff Carter, and Tom Carter who have shared many exciting times over their lifetimes with their parents, and this was depicted on a special DVD tape presented at the birthday celebration. Russell's life began in Worthington, Minnesota eighty years ago and he spent his early childhood in that portion of the country; he joined the Army-Air Force and was stationed at Norton Air Force Base in San Bernardino, California where he met his lovely future bride Joyce who was in the Nursing Corp. They were married in Las Vegas in 1952. During his tenure with the Air Force, Russell had the occupation of a welder which he utilized in his first job after leaving the service.

Russell moved back to the Northeast (Detroit area) after leaving the service and held several different jobs, welding, bread salesman, and truck driver for Foremost Dairy. The latter job was held in California, when he moved here from Detroit. In 1969, Russell donated one of his kidneys to his younger brother Wayne in Riverside, California, which was the first kidney transplant done in that County between two participants. Russell has always been a person who has been active in organizations to help those people who are less fortunate than himself, and one of those organizations that he became quite involved with was the Grand Terrace Lions Club. He has served on many committees within the organization over the last 20 plus years, and he became the Club President in 1996-1997. Russell has also ran the annual Lion's golf tournament for many years as a fund raising exercise to assist those agencies that the Lion's donate to such as the Guide Dogs of the Desert. Russell is still continuing to play golf and work hard at his daughter's store in the local mountains and has said, "I've enjoyed a good and complete life with all of my family and friends, and I intend to do that same thing for the next 80 years." You know, I think he is going to do just that.

Russ and his beautiful wife Joyce. They have been married since 1952 and look just as much in love now as they did then.

tion path seems to be directed towards a more modern stucco look.

The Redevelopment Agency's Commercial Improvement Plan is directed towards helping give Grand Terrace a stronger appearance through its businesses. Up to $5,000 can be granted for architectural concepts, $35,000 for single storefronts, and up to $100,000 for entire shopping centers. Many have begun to catch onto this amazing opportunity and have begun to apply. Since Shamolian was one of the first to apply for the grants, construction on his project is expected to begin within the next month and should take no longer than a few months after that says the Press Enterprise.

Another $125,000 will be added towards the project on June 1st, marking the next fiscal year.

This hilarious comedy tells the story of a married couple who are art dealers. Their domestic tranquility is shattered upon the arrival of the wife's goody-goody nerd of a sister, her uptight CPA husband and her Archetypal Jewish Mother. They are there to try to save their college student daughter from the horrors of living only for sex. The comic sparks really begin to fly when the mother hits it off with the elderly minimalist artist who is the art dealer's best client!

The thing that makes any entertainer successful is the ability to connect with an audience. It's the quality of sharing the humor in everyday situations that has made Bill Engvall one of the top comedians today and among the busiest.

Bill is starring in and executive producing the new half hour sitcom for TBS entitled "The Bill Engvall Show." The show centers on Bill as the father at the core of a family comedy. The series' debut telecast on July 17, 2007 delivered 3.9 million viewers and 2.8 million households, securing a place among ad-supported cable's Top 3 sitcom.

Mike Epps

Intocable, which rose to fame in the mid-90's, began their iconic careers in Zapata, Texas in the early 90's. Since that time, they have won numerous awards and ovations, most notably two Latin Grammys in 2005 for Best Norteño Album with Diez and Best Regional Mexican Song with their hit, "Aire". After countless top ten hits, Intocable is still going strong. After the tragic passing of two of their members in 1999, the band has grown stronger, releasing the ten albums for EMI, showcasing some of their greatest hits.

"High School Musical On Stage" Rocks

By: Jules E. Beuck and Rose Botkin-Beuck
Entertainment Writers

When Disney creates something it will do whatever it can to turn it into a franchise. Such is the case with "High School Musical." One of the most watched made for television movies which starred teen heartthrob Zac Efron in the title role. The soundtrack and DVD release sold millions. Disney has released the rights so it can be presented on stage, which is exactly what Candlelight Pavilion Dinner Theater in Claremont is presently doing.

For those over twenty-five or who do not get cable, the show follows five high school students as they deal with cliques and peer pressure. In a way it followed the story line from "Grease" as the two main characters meet on vacation and then find that they now go to the same high school.

Many high school issues are played out including how sports always get much more funding than the arts.

Performing in the Zac Efron role of Troy is Derek Klena. Klena is in his second Candlelight production in a row and will be in the next show "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" as well. As we said about his Huck Finn performance he is an excellent actor and his vocals are pretty good.

Jonathan Arana, who studies at Cal State San Bernardino, has the role of Jack Scott, school disc jockey. His character is used to help the audience keep up with the changes on stage. He is very amusing in this role.

Tiana Okoye is Taylor McKessie, one of the so called "brainiacs." She was very impressive with both her vocals and acting.

So was Courtney Cheatham as Gabriella Montez, the girl that Troy met on vacation. She has a very good voice and is a believable actor.

Performing as brother and sister Ryan and Sharpay Evans are Jordan and Kristen Lamoureux. They had what would pass for the bully role. Their voices blend very well together, much better than Klena's and Cheatham's do.

This is a very busy show with a lot of choreography. The cast handled it all extremely well. During the song "Head in the Game" the cast had to dance while dribbling basketballs and did so impressively.

This is a fun and energetic show that is worth seeing.

Kids in the audience are given small cheerleading megaphones. After every show the cast comes out to meet the audience, take pictures and autograph the megaphones.

"Disney's High School Musical on Stage!" runs through June 28th and will be followed by the above mentioned "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" July 3rd. The price of admission includes salad, warm rolls, entrée, the show and sales tax. Appetizers, beverages, desserts and gratuities are extra. Call (909) 626-1254 for ticket information or go to their website at www.thecpdt.com.

The Blue Man Group Presents a Colorful Show

By: Stevieann Beach
Staff Writer

The Blue Man Group exploded onto the stage at San Manuel Casino in San Bernardino on Thursday, May 28th. This colorful variety show is great entertainment for everybody. The show started with funny messages flashing up onto a board and little did the audience know that these screenings would be a vital part for the rest of the show. After much anticipa-

Joke of the Week Golfers Will Understand

It was a sunny morning, a little before 8:00 am, on the first Hole of a busy course, and I was beginning my pre-shot routine, visualizing my upcoming shot when a piercing voice came over the club house loud speaker, 'Would the gentleman on the woman's tee back up to the men's tee please!'

I could feel every eye on the course looking at me. I was still deep in my routine, seemingly impervious to the interruption. Again the announcement,

'Would the man on the woman's tee kindly back up to the men's tee' I simply ignored the guy and kept concentrating, when once more, the man yelled,

'Would the man on the woman's tee back up to the men's tee, please'

I finally stopped, turned, cupped my hands and shouted back 'Would the person with the microphone please be quiet and let me play my second shot.'

The Blue Man Group mix fluorescent paint and drums to wow the audience in their opening skit.

tion the 3 Blue Men and their backup band took the stage with the crowd roaring in high expectation of what was about to happen.

They started the show with the drums and fluorescent paint that they are known so well for. The skit kept intensifying as the drum beats got harder and more and more paint was added until the fluorescent drops were flying everywhere. It was a sight to see and then one of the blue men started throwing what seemed like gumballs into the mouth of one of his fellow blue men who then grabbed a blank canvas and spat fluorescent pink paint onto it. Then the second blue man proceeded to do the same with the third blue man except his didn't turn out quite the same, it looked more like putty. The second Blue Man proceeded to add both yellow and blue paint to his pink paint on the canvas to create a beautiful masterpiece. Fortunately, for the third blue man he never got any paint but he did catch no less than 20 giant putty gumballs in his mouth and when he finished, he spit it out and it made a huge mountain of clay and the crowd loved every minute of it.

This Blue Man "painted" a wonderful masterpiece by spitting pink, yellow, and blue paint onto canvas. What were thought to be gumballs ended up having a little extra inside them.

The show continued on with a number of great skits which included drums, pipes used like drums, paint, and many other great props. They also used quite a bit of audience participation, coming down into the audience quite a few times and pulling different members up onto stage.

This show was non-stop fun and action from beginning to end. A must see for everyone!

Simple Safety Tips to Protect Your Home

(ARA) - Home may be where the heart is, but it also is where the hazards are. Many of us are at risk of incurring injuries in our own homes every day, some of which could even be fatal.

The Home Safety Council reports that Americans suffer nearly 21 million preventable household injuries each year. June is Home Safety Month and a great time to focus on some of the most common household hazards. Here are three easy ways to increase the level of safety at home:

Be armed with alarms

Installing smoke and carbon monoxide (CO) alarms will immediately help improve the safety of your home and family. According to the Home Safety Council, alarms that detect smoke cut the risk of fire-related fatalities nearly in half. An interconnected alarm system like First Alert's ONELINK wireless offering is a good choice.

Extinguish fear (and flames)

Keep several fire extinguishers on hand and know how to use them. The easy-to-operate Tundra Fire Extinguishing Spray covers a wide surface and gives users more time to fight a fire.

Get a grip on garage dangers

Clear clutter and keep poisons and flammable liquids stored safely and out of reach of children and pets.

For more home safety tips, visit www.firstalert.com or www.homesafetycouncil.org.

Dog of the Week

A new dog every week available to a good home.

Josie and Winnie are a pair of wonderful sisters that are 6 years old.

They came from a home that was very neglectful. Their skin was in such bad shape, they were practically hairless.

Now with the help of so many good sponsors, these girls are now in a healthy & happy condition. Their hair has not only grown in, but it has a nice luster to it as well! They are ready for a home to call their own!

Josie is very outgoing. Loves her toys. Most of the time, you will find her with one in her mouth. She is the larger of the 2 girls.

Winnie is the shy girl. Very adorable & likes a quiet place to snuggle and take a nap.

Josie and Winnie have been through a lot together & have got through it all side by side. We are looking for a home that will adopt them both.

Once you have read the biography, if you are interested in filling out an application, please email: dpsrescue@earthlink.net

Not...for Seniors Only

By: JoAnn Johnson

The Terrace Hills Middle School Tiger Band under the direction of Robert Ransdell entertained us in May. The program was very well done especially considering the age of the young people. We wished that they had played longer but we enjoyed the presentation very much. Sally McGuire will present a program on Fall Prevention on June 12th. This may not be the most entertaining program, but it certainly will be one of the most important. We have had a few really bad falls among our members. Also, this may possibly be the first program in our new building. Sally understands that if we are in the middle of our move we will reschedule this program at a future time. I have found a vocalist by the name of Tony Dettore who will be coming in July when we will surely be in our new building. Mr. Dettore does Sinatra, Bennett and many others. I really think you will like him.

I am assured that our move is imminent! The end of May is being eyed as when we will be packed up and start our move. As I have said before, it will take a few days to get things arranged and settled and that mean no lunch, no activities, etc... This does not translate into "vacation" for those of us who will be doing the moving and figuring out just how to make things work in our great new Grand Terrace Senior Center! When you do come back, you will most certainly be impressed. I will try to remember to put our opening date on our answering machine so that you can just dial our number and know when to come back.

It's still not too late to get your converter box coupon for the looming June 12th deadline. So, if you rely on a regular antenna or rabbit ears, you will need this converter in order to watch television. I have the forms that you will need to file for the $40 coupon.

Senior Companions is still looking for people to help other seniors. The pay is not high, but I understand that it is tax free. So, if you like people who are at least 60 and are low income and could work around 20 hours a week, you might seriously look into becoming a Senior Companion, call 909-384-5413. This is a repeat item because the need for senior companions is growing as we all age.
